GALLOWS LONG WAY IN FUTURE IN MURDER CASE

Hanging Slow Business In
Cook County

Insanity Commission May
Be Formed

Chicago, Aug. 12.—It probably will be a long time before Nathan F. Leopold, Jr., and Richard A. Loeb hang for the killing of Bobby Franks—if they hang at all.

Hanging is slow business in Cook County, Illinois, as evidenced by the "lengthy trial" that has been accorded the debonair young collegians after their calm confession that they kidnapped the Franks boy and hammered him to death with a cold chisel in an academic attempt to commit the "perfect crime."

The trial has run three weeks now. It will consume two more weeks before Judge John R. Caverly is called upon to decide whether their punishment is to be the gallows or life imprisonment.

If Judge Caverly accepts the conclusions of the alienists, who have had the two slayers under observation for more than two months that "Babe" and "Dicks" are mentally diseased and orders life imprisonment for them it will end the celebrated case.

The state's attorneys, fighting grimly for the hanging verdict have no appeal.

If Judge Caverly decides they are sane and responsible under the law and decrees death for them, the lawyers and the medical scientists that constitute the defense have three courses open to them. They can ask the supreme court of Illinois for a review of the case; they can ask the appointment of a sanity commission to examine the boys on the ground their minds have turned the eerie corner into insanity between the date of sentence and the date set for execution, or they can appeal to the governor for executive clemency.

Any, or all of these courses may be resorted to should Judge Caverly toss out the conclusions of the defense alienists in the present trial and decree the noose.

Chicago, Aug. 12.—Dr. H. S. Hubert, defense alienist, testified at the judicial hearing of Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb for the murder of Robert Franks, that Leopold was not normal on the day of the murder.

The doctor said his conclusion was based on Leopold's abnormal, highly developed intellect, on his immature judgment, and on the fact that his emotions are so slight that they permitted him to act in an abnormal way."

Leopold's "abnormal mental condition had a direct bearing on the murder," the doctor said. His mental condition left him open to suggestion from his associate, Loeb. Alone Leopold would not have committed the crime, according to the doctor.

"Loeb, in committing his part in the Franks murder, was largely swayed by motives harbored since early childhood," Dr. Hubert testified. "Altho his education was not in itself a factor, his outside reading, including the detective stories he started reading as a small child, and continued up until the time of the crime, was a factor. The fact that his emotions and his judgment were immature was another factor. Neither Leopold nor Loeb could have committed the murder of Robert Franks were it not for their abnormal minds."

The report of Dr. James Whitney Hall, chief of the defense alienists and the man who organized all the defense medical evidence, was made public. Leopold and Loeb, according to Dr. Hall's report, are "psychopathic inferiors," a term which he says is practically synonymous with "moral imbecility," "moral deficiency," "moral insanity," and "impulsive insanity."

Dr. Hubert was sharply cross-examined by State's Attorney Crowe.

The latter assailed the credibility of the witness and repeatedly drew admissions that the witness himself had not conducted several of the laboratory tests and that he could not give out the names of the laboratory experts who had made them. Crowe endeavored to show that the youthful physician did not understand fully some of the technical terms he used when questioned by the defense. Several times Crowe broke in with the following question:

"As a matter of fact, doctor, you're not exactly sure what you're talking about, are you?"

Each time the witness, altho obviously annoyed, snapped back, "Certainly I do."

The hearing may be concluded this week. The state, when its turn comes, will call only four or five alienists. Among the two score lay witnesses which Crowe may use, are University of Chicago professors, students and friends of the two defendants. Several of those who testified for the defense have been subpoenaed to appear for the prosecution.

DAVIS LEARNS OF NOMINATION AND BEGINS CAMPAIGN FOR PRESIDENCY

Democratic Candidate Cheered In Acceptance Address
Given in Heavy Rain—Attacks Administration
In Address.

Clarksburg, W. Va., Aug. 12.—The John W. Davis drive for the presidency was in full swing today with a vivid trail of campaign issues blazed for the guidance of democracy's hosts. Out of the West Virginian hill that cradled him, Davis laid down at his formal notification a clear-cut platform on which he cast his hopes for November. It was featured by a scathing denunciation of Republican official corruption and it won the enthusiastic endorsement of his followers although the ceremonies were marred by a driving rainstorm.

Playing the Republicans for a "three mile" foreign policy, Davis proposed American adherence to the world court, endorsed the league of nations but postponed a decision on entry until the American people signified their readiness. He said such an expression would not be long in arriving.

For the farmers and the laboring classes he proposed specific programs of legislation and federal administration. To the average American he offered pledges of strictest government economy and a slashing of taxes with honest reinforcement of all laws. But the dominating issue was his attack on Republican dishonesty.

The nominee rested this morning from his arduous task. He planned to leave his old home town late this afternoon on the return trip to New York City. In the meantime, he gathered his lieutenants into council to expand plans for the campaign and his impending "swing around the circuit." He was literally overwhelmed with appeals for speeches and appearances. The notification itself was a tremendous physical victory for Davis. The rainstorm sweeping over the Blue Ridge, drenched his audience, gusts of driven spray swirled against him, drowning out his voice, curtains of fog dropped between him and his followers. Yet thousands stayed to the end, shouting encouragement when Davis could no longer see them.

Despite the elements, he whipped his audience into enthusiastic approval. It was a remarkable tribute to his personal popularity.

The attack upon dishonesty in the Republican administration undoubtedly will be Davis' biggest campaign weapon. He flatly declared he would ask the voters throughout the land to pass judgment of condemnation as a warning to all men who may aspire to public office, that dishonesty either in thought, word or deed, will not be tolerated in America."

"I cannot doubt what that verdict will be," he added.

There was much comment here today over the criticism Davis levelled at President Coolidge when he complained the fact that the executive did not sit in the senate scandals.

"What shall we say when a statement comes from one who of all men should have been most deeply stirred. The wonder is not that so many have fallen but that so few have been shown untrue," he asked.

"Shell shock was late indeed in arriving, if it is to be put forward now as the excuse for these gross misdeeds."

The nominee also made a distinct hit with a direct discussion of his New York law practice.

"The upright lawyer sells his services but never his soul," was his challenge to critics of his legal practice. "I have not clients today but the Democratic party, and if they will it so, the people of the United States."

While congratulations poured into his headquarters here the candidate was faced with the task of healing a new breach among his followers. It was created by a clash between members of the Democratic national committee over the selection of vice chairman.

The McAdoo following showed deep resentment, charging that Kremer had been discriminated against.

The exchange was accepted after bitter fight at the committee's first session. It wound up with the committee almost overturning the first ruling of Clem L. Shaver, newly elected national chairman.

The vote was 27 to 26 to uphold Shaver, who decided that only three vice chairmen could be elected.

This decision cost Kremer his seat, but Shaver was in no wise to blame.

The McAdoo people were beaten in the parliamentary maneuvers by which the Smith people forced the election of Hague, Mrs. Emily Newell Blair and Samuel Amidon, of Kansas, before Kremer's nomination was confirmed.

Friends of the nominee belittled the committee's differences, declaring that all wounds would be healed by appointing Kremer as western campaign manager. This solution was proposed first by George E. Brennan, the Illinois czar, but it received a cold reception by the McAdoo-Kremer committee members.

Columbus, O., Aug. 12.—Attorney General Crabbe had on file in common Pleas Court here today a motion asking that those persons who are seeking to restrain the state from purchasing a brick plant at Roseville, be ordered to give more specific evidence that the plant is not worth $35,000, as they charged, or withdrew their objections.

IDEAL WEATHER GREETS VOTERS AT PRIMARY TUESDAY; EXPECT COUNT WILL BE SLOW

Columbus, O., Aug. 12.—Ideal summer weather, expected to largely reduce the rural vote because of its special fitness for farming purposes—marked the close today of the statewide primary campaign of both major parties. With polls opening at 6:30 a.m. eastern standard time, and closing twelve hours later, the count throughout the state was expected to be somewhat delayed by the multiplicity of candidates, not only for state offices, but in many cases for county offices as well.

In addition to the hot campaign on the state tickets of the Republican and Democratic parties, a number of present congressmen were

MOUNTAINS COMBED IN HUNT FOR GIRL

Baltimore, Aug. 12.—The mountains in the vicinity of Frostburg, Md., are being combed by posse in a search for Mary Catherine Mitchell, 4-year-old daughter of James W. Mitchell of Uniontown, believed to have been kidnapped while the Mitchell family was on a picnic in a woods near Frostburg. Following a report that the girl was seen being taken away by four men in an automobile, scores joined in the search. Another report was that two men were seen walking with the girl about two miles northwest of Frostburg. The child was said to have been dressed in expensive clothing, leading the kidnappers to believe that she came from a wealthy family. She was last seen about 1 p.m. Sunday. An hour later a party of girl campers reported seeing the child being taken toward the mountains by four men in an automobile.

The nominaee also made a distinct hit with a direct discussion of his New York law practice.

"The upright lawyer sells his services but never his soul," was his challenge to critics of his legal practice. "I have not clients today but the Democratic party, and if they will it so, the people of the United States."

COOLIDGE AMAZED AT REQUEST MADE TO HURT CANDIDATE

Washington, Aug. 12.—In a letter addressed to Charles R. Gardner of Fort Hamilton, N. Y., President Coolidge replied to a protest received at the white house against the candidacy of a negro in New York for a seat in congress. The president said:

"Leaving out of consideration the manifest impropriety of the president intruding himself in a local contest for nomination I am amazed to receive such a letter.

"During the war 500,000 colored men and boys were called up under the draft, not one of whom sought to evade it. They took their places wherever assigned in defense of the nation in which they are just as truly citizens as any others. The suggestion of denying any measure of their full political rights to such a great group of our population as the colored people, however it might be received in some other quarters, could possibly be permitted by one who feels a responsibility for living up to the traditions and maintaining the principles of the Republican party.

"Our constitution guarantees equal rights to all our citizens without discrimination on account of race or color. I have taken my oath to support that constitution. It is the source of your rights and my rights. I propose to regard it and administer it as the source of the rights of all the people, whatever their belief or race. A colored man is precisely as much entitled to submit his candidacy in a party primary, as is any other citizen. The decision must be made by the constituents to whom he offers himself and by nobody else.

You have suggested that in some fashion I should bring influence to bear to prevent the possibility of a colored man being nominated for congress. In reply I quote my great predecessor, Theodore Roosevelt: 'I cannot consent to take the position that the door of hope—the door of opportunity—is to be shut upon any man, no matter how worthy, purely on the grounds of race or color.'

DAVIS LEARNS OF NOMINATION AND BEGINS CAMPAIGN

Clarksburg, W. Va., Aug. 12.—John W. Davis in accepting the Democratic nomination for president, delivered an address in which he charged the Republicans with "complacency in the face of corruption."

He defined what he held as the chief issues in the campaign before thousands of people who gathered in Goff Plaza, in this his home city.

Mr. Davis declared that the supreme need of the hour was to "bring back to the people confidence in the government." His address was featured by a measured attack upon the record of the Republican party during the past four years. Recounting what he termed "the multiplied scandals of these melancholy years," Davis assailed the executive branch of government for "hurried efforts to suppress testimony, to discourage witnesses, to spy upon investigators and finally, by trumped up indictment, to frighten and deter" the investigators from their pursuit.

Mr. Davis charged that in the enactment of the present tariff law there was "an unblushing return to the evil days of rewarding party support and political contributions with legislative favors." Also he charged inability of the administration to function, due to disagreement between the president and the Republican majority in congress to agree upon public questions. He said that not only have executive recommendations for adherence to the world court been "scouted and ignored, but no evidence is in sight that the Republican party as now constituted can frame and carry to its conclusion any definite and consistent foreign policy."

The Democratic nominee arraigned the Republican party "in its organized capacity for having shaken public confidence to its very foundations." He charged it with indifference to the world peace and timidity in the conduct of foreign affairs. He said the Democratic party was prepared to offer in exchange a program based on Democratic principles and guaranteed by a record of Democratic performances.

Davis' Pledges

Mr. Davis expressed in general terms his approval of the proposals in the Democratic platform and pledged himself to the following:

Enforcement of all laws, including the prohibition amendment and statutes enacted under it; agricultural aid through revision of the tariff governmental assistance in extending the co-operative marketing principle and by other means; reduction in taxation and revision of the tariff, an honest, impartial and just government; opposition to any challenge of the constitutional guarantees of religious freedom; economy in government, but not of the kind that deprives government employees of pay equal to that they would receive from private employers for similar work, and approval of the world court.

Mr. Davis declared he also stood for prevention of child labor and suppression of the illicit traffic in soul destroying drugs, for conservation of all of the natural resources of the country, and in opposition to the impairment, "either by injunction or by any other device" of the rights of labor to organize and to bargain collectively for "an adequate wage earned under healthful conditions."

The speaker said he pledged "grateful care" to the "veterans of the wars, especially to those who were stricken and wounded in the country's service and whose confidence has been so cruelly and corruptly abused."

World Court and League
Concerning the world league Mr. Davis said he favored co-operation officially with all legitimate endeavors, whether from the League of Nations or from any other source, to lessen the prospect of war; to aid in repairing the ravages of past wars; to promote disarmament and to advance the well being of mankind. He would maintain the means of adequate national defense "until reason is permitted to take the place of force."

On the subject of religious freedom Mr. Davis said he wished to denounce bigotry, intolerance and race prejudice as alien to the spirit of America, and promised that when elected he would "set up no standard of religious faith or racial origin" as a qualification for any of the thousands of offices he would be called upon to fill. He did not mention the name of any organization.

Concerning agricultural conditions Davis declared the Democrats proposed to see to it that the discriminations which the tariff makes against the farmer shall be removed; that this government by doing its share toward a European settlement shall help to revive and enlarge his foreign markets; that the forces of government shall be put actively to work to lend assistance to endeavors for extending the principle of co-operative marketing; that when widespread distress has overtaken him, every power which the government enjoys under the Constitution shall be exerted in his aid. "He is entitled, too, to demand an adequate service of transportation at reasonable rates," the candidate said. "In spite of the failures and shortcomings of existing laws, this is an ideal which I can not believe to be beyond the reach of attainment."

Mr. Davis promised if he became president America would sit as "an equal among equals whenever she sits at all at international gatherings. He added he could not reconcile it with his ideas of the dignity of a great nation to be represented at such gatherings only "under the poor pretense of 'unofficial observers.'" We do not and cannot accept dictum unauthorized by any expression of popular will that the League of Nations is a closed incident so far as we are concerned.

UNITED STATES BANK DEPOSITS GAINED $1,951,000,000 IN YEAR

Deposits held by the 29,465 national and State banks and trust companies and savings funds of the United States March 31 totaled $46,001,000,000, an increase in one year of $1,951,000,000, establishing a new high record, according to a report compiled by R. N. Sims secretary-treasurer of the National Association of Supervisors of State Banks.

The compilation, disclosing a healthy condition in the banking field of the United States, also shows a gratifying increase in the capital and total resources of all banks for the year.

In presenting his report to the association, Mr. Sims said:

"Both classes of banks perform equally useful and necessary functions and I do not make comparisons for the purpose of disparagement, but to emphasize the colossal size of the two great banking systems and to direct attention to the importance and need of both in the development and handling of our country's business."

MAYBE AFTER WE ARE GONE

Ralph Modjeski, builder of the Delaware Bridge, gives it as his opinion that eventually the lock canal at Panama will have to be replaced by one at sea-level. In the meantime, however, the waterway is an income-producer that with every monthly record confutes the pessimistic predictions that abounded when the "marriage of the seas and the divorce of the continents" occurred. At that time some of the chief engineers themselves did not hesitate to express their skepticism. Like the Suez Canal, the "big ditch" at the isthmus is one of the most lucrative public utilities of the world.—Public Ledger.

EVERY MOTORIST INTERESTED

"Fining Squires" and "fine mills," the bête noir of motorists good and bad, are likely to go the way of all forgotten things if there shall be a few more rulings like that given this week by Judge Smith, in the Common Pleas Court, Philadelphia, Penn. The issue in this case turned upon the right of a motorist summoned in another county to enter bail in Philadelphia for his appearance in a court of record where his offense was supposed to have been committed. In sustaining this right the Court struck a body blow at the tyrannous custom of some country justices of refusing to persons brought before them either the right to waive a hearing and enter security for appearance at court, or to appeal directly from the justice's court to a higher and more responsible tribunal. This is an arbitrary abuse of power that has long called for correction. While some of the more notorious of the "fining squires" are talking noisily of ignoring Judge Smith's ruling, they are likely to find that their own power is strictly limited. A few recent refusals on the part of automobile drivers who feel themselves unjustly handled to submit to summary judgment and fines will soon settle the question finally.

WHO'S HELPED BY THE SUGAR TARIFF?

A lowering of the sugar tariff will at least demonstrate the lack of relationship between the tariff and retail sugar prices. The highest sugar price we have had in years was under the Underwood tariff law. Sugar prices soared for a while under the present tariff law, and loud was the outcry to the effect that it was caused by the slightly higher tariff imposed. With no change in the tariff the price of sugar dropped and the clamor along with it. Senator LaFollette who insists that the sugar tariff caused high sugar prices, on the ground that the sugar market is monopolized, couple this claim with the statement that 75 per cent of the sugar output in Cuba, where most of our competitive sugar comes from, is in the hands of the American sugar monopoly. If that be true, how will the reduction in the tariff now being paid by these monopolists cause them to lower the price of sugar in the market they control? Conceivably it will enable them to force down the price of home grown raw sugar, and therefore the profits of the American producer in the cane fields and sugar beet fields, but where does the consumer come in? Experience has shown that with the decrease in the tariff on raw sugar the price of Cuban raw sugar is raised proportionately. The so-called "sugar trust" will doubtless view with equanimity a proposal to hoist the price of its Cuban output, but the American consumer, who will get no advantage from the change, will only experience the same old price, while the market for sugar beets and sugar cane will be depreciated.—National Republican.

THE SUN

I sometimes wonder what the morning sun looks forward to as daily it returns, As some home-comer in whose breast there burns The hope to see what friends he loves have done, What change has been completed or begun; I fancy, too, that great orb often years To find some proof that we with our concerns Have tried to make the world a kindlier one. It sees us daily bent on petty strife, Sees our great buildings reared for sordid gain, With now and then some hint of gentler life, Some small improvement started to remain. I think the sun exults as on it rolls The day it finds us caring for our souls.

THE KIND THING

A friend of mine in talking of the late Frank Bacon remarked that "he was always trying to do the kind thing."

I knew this to be true for he was my friend, too; and I never knew anyone more kind or considerate, more gentle, or who thought of others so much and often.

It seems to me that what this world needs more than anything else is for everyone to try and do the kind thing.

Surely nothing so inspires one as this.

There's so much coldness, so much grasping, so much selfish consideration, that if people would only just stop and think it all over and then open their hearts wide and try to do and act the kind thing, what a difference it would make!

People used to follow Frank Bacon around on the street—just because they loved him and wanted to get close to him.

The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quarter-pint of the most wonderful skin whitener, softer and beautier.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms and hands. It can not irritate. It can not be bought ready to use because it acts best immediately after it is prepared.

The old superstition that divine revelation will enable a mother to care for her baby with unerring wisdom has long since been passed into the discard. It is now well known that to trust to a mother's love and instinct, unless they are supplemented by knowledge, is to lean on a broken reed.

Even before the arrival of the child the mother-to-be should bring all her God-given powers to bear on the task of learning how she may assist Nature in perfecting the unborn. Instead of going on blindly in the belief that Providence will help those who refuse to help themselves.

Oliver Wendell Holmes tells us that the education and training of a child should properly commence with its grandparents, if a child is to have the inheritance it has a right to demand of its progenitors.

Be this as it may, of one thing we are certain, and that is that since this little bundle of responsibility has arrived, we must shoulder the burden with a fervor that will enable us to meet each phase of the situation as it presents itself with courage and joy.

At first the baby's physical needs and development demand all our care and attention, for the intellectual faculties are as yet inactive. Our aim in the beginning must be to assist Nature in building aright the body which is the temple of the budding soul.

The first essentials of life being air and warmth, let us give these due consideration.

The baby's first demand upon the new world into which it has entered is oxygen. It can wait a while for its bath and still longer for food, but it must have air at once. The baby's first requirement, then, is a well ventilated, warm apartment.

Our babies are permitted to breathe a pure atmosphere from birth, by day as well as by night, and are given sun baths, they will grow and expand with all the strength and beauty of the things of the outdoor world, even though much of the time is spent indoors.

The needs of the infant are comparatively simple, when they are properly understood. All that is required is that you use good, common sense, eliminate non-essentials, and concentrate on the es-niversary sermon on Sunday. Rev. Gray and his brother Rev. W. R. Gray of Summerfield, Kansas, are both sons of this congregation, to enter a successful ministry.

OHIO WEDNESDAY

Following orders issued recently preparatory for the annual encampment of the 147th infantry at Camp Perry this and next week, Company L of this city will report at the Armory Tuesday evening ready to leave for camp Wednesday morning.

Captain Leroy John will leave in advance of his company with First Lieutenant John Berger and Second Lieut. Clifford Shupp. They will make the trip by automobile. The company is in charge of First Sergeant Ivan Jacobs.

Approximately the entire company will make the journey, which means that from fifty to sixty men will leave on the train Wednesday morning.

An advance detail of the company left Monday morning comprised of Mess Sergeant McFadden, A. Sodders, and Corporal Roscoe Whittier in order to make arrangements for eating and sleeping facilities for the company.

Company L has been drilling diligently for this trip, putting in four days of drill work last week, and should make a good showing at the camp.

The company will stay at the camp fifteen days, returning the last of the month.

INDICATIONS OF HEAVY PRIMARY
VOTING TUESDAY

All indications seem to point to a heavy primary vote Tuesday according to officials of the election board. Weather conditions appeared ideal for a heavy vote as forecasters have given a promise of fair and warmer weather for Tuesday.

Farmers especially should flock to the polls as rain Monday night will probably interfere materially with work in the fields.

Candidates for the various offices closed their campaigns Monday afternoon and are now awaiting the result of the primary with expectancy, with the usual predictions of success given out from their headquarters.

Precinct workers obtained their election supplies Monday and were as a whole enthusiastic in their predictions of a successful primary vote. Members of the two principle parties were also optimistic over the chances of their particular candidates.

Several close races are expected on both tickets particularly the Republican county commissioner's race which appeared to hold the stage in public interest as the zero hour for voting arrived.

The fourteen election booths will be kept open until 5:30 o'clock central time, Tuesday insuring citizens twelve hours during which to cast their ballots.

Length of the ballots it is believed will make the final precinct count a trifle late. Reports from but a few precincts will be available by 9 o'clock in the evening it is thought and it will probably be after 10 o'clock before the general trend of the vote can be ascertained.

GOITRE REDUCED IN 10 Days Without Surgery

If you suffer from Goitre you will be glad to know that it is no longer necessary to worry about painful and dangerous methods of removing it. Science has developed a new treatment, called Thyogland, which quickly reduces the growth without the slightest inconvenience, danger or pain. Many sufferers say this remarkable new treatment quickly reduced their goitres after everything else failed.

The treatment has been perfected for easy use at home, and to introduce Thyogland to a million sufferers in one month, I want to send a $1 treatment of my famous Thyogland remedy, postpaid and without cost or obligation. If it cures you tell your friends and pay me what you think is fair, otherwise the loss is mine. Just send your name for this liberal offer to L. H. CARVER, 732 Baltimore Bldg., Kansas City Mo.

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED.

DOROTHY LANE goes to New York to visit a friend and try to break into the movies. She soon gets started, and through the friendship of

LAWRENCE FRENCH, a young publicity man, gets an engagement with

JOHN SEWARD, "the great lover of the screen," who falls in love with her and asks her to marry him. However, she cares more for French, but is not sure that he cares for her. She has an unfortunate experience with

EIKHORN, one of the big producers, and decides to go back home and give up her career, when French gets her part in a picture being made in the country by

CARL BANNING. French follows her to the country and proposes to her. Banning persuades them not to be married at once, and French goes back to New York. The star of the production,

CRYSTAL MAY, does all that she can to make things unpleasant for Dorothy. Crystal refuses to do a dangerous leap, and Banning gives that scene to Dorothy. Dorothy realizes that it will mean a great deal to her career if she does it, and goes through with it, though she is much frightened. Later she learns that Crystal has insisted on having that scene cut out. Dorothy receives word from Lawrence that he is leaving for California as publicity man for a famous actress. She is disconsolate.

AS the door closed behind Janet I threw myself down on the bed and clenched my hands to keep from screaming. Of course, I was tired from having worked very hard and from the struggle not to let Crystal's disagreeableness get the better of me and the disappointment over not being able to go with Larry had been very keen. Yet I needn't have given way so completely as

I did.

But somehow I couldn't help thinking of how many divorces there were among motion-picture people. It seemed as if I couldn't think of a woman star who had been married who hadn't been divorced, too. And a lot of those who were still married were sort of semi-detached from their husbands. Nobody thought anything of it apparently; they all seemed to have accepted the fact that happy marriages, such as my father's and mother's, or my sister's and her husband's, couldn't exist among members of their profession.

"It's natural enough, of course," I told myself. "Why, if Larry and I were married, and he had to go off to the Coast, as he's going now, with some awfully attractive woman, and I had to stay here and work, I'd be perfectly wretched."

After a while I decided that Larry couldn't have cared much for me, or he wouldn't have gone away without coming to see me. And finally I wrote him a note, telling him that I thought our engagement had better be broken; that I was sure we couldn't be happy together. Then I hurried downstairs, mailed it, and got into the machine that was to take me to the railway station. I

Hanging Slow Business In
Cook County

Insanity Commission May
Be Formed

Chicago, Aug. 12.—It probably will be a long, long time before Nathan F. Leopold, Jr., and Richard A. Loeb hang for the killing of Bobby Franks—if they hang at all.

Hanging is slow business in Cook County, Illinois, as evidenced by the "lengthy trial" that has been accorded the debonair young collegians after their calm confession that they kidnapped the Franks boy and hammered him to death with a cold chisel in an academic attempt to commit the "perfect crime."

The trial has run three weeks now. It will consume two more weeks before Judge John R. Caverly is called upon to decide whether their punishment is to be the gallows or life imprisonment.

If Judge Caverly accepts the conclusions of the alienists, who have had the two slayers under observance for more than two months that "Babe" and "Dicky" are mentally diseased and orders life imprisonment for them it will end the celebrated case.

The state's attorneys, fighting grimly for the hanging verdict have no appeal.

If Judge Caverly decides they are sane and responsible under the law and decrees death for them, the lawyers and the medical scientists that constitute the defense have three courses open to them. They can ask the supreme court of Illinois for a review of the case; they can ask the appointment of a sanity commission to examine the boys on the ground their minds have turned the eerie corner into insanity between the date of sentence and the date set for execution, or they can appeal to the governor for executive clemency.

Any, or all of these courses may be resorted to should Judge Caverly toss out the conclusions of the defense alienists in the present trial and decree the noose.

Chicago, Aug. 12.—Dr. H. S. Hubert, defense alienist, testified at the judicial hearing of Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb for the murder of Robert Franks, that Leopold was not normal on the day of the murder.

The doctor said his conclusion was based on Leopold's abnormal, highly developed intellect, on his immature judgment, and on the fact that his emotions are so slight that they permitted him to act in an abnormal way.

Leopold's "abnormal mental condition had a direct bearing on the murder," the doctor said. His mental condition left him open to suggestion from his associate, Loeb. Alone Loeb would not have committed the crime, according to the doctor.

"Loeb, in committing his part in the Franks murder, was largely swayed by motives harbored since early childhood," Dr. Hubert testified. "Altho his education was not in itself a factor, his outside reading, including the detective stories he started reading as a small child, and continued up until the time of the crime, was a factor. The fact that his emotions and his judgment were immature was another factor. Neither Leopold nor Loeb could have committed the murder of Robert Franks were it not for their abnormal minds."

The report of Dr. James Whitney Hall, chief of the defense alienists and the man who organized all the defense medical evidence, was made public. Leopold and Loeb, according to Dr. Hall's report, are "psychopathic inferiors," a term which he says is practically synonymous with "moral imbecility," "moral deficiency," "moral insanity," and "impulsive insanity."

Dr. Hubert was sharply cross-examined by State's Attorney Crowe.

The latter assailed the credibility of the witness and repeatedly drew admissions that the witness himself had not conducted several of the laboratory tests and that he could not give out the names of the laboratory experts who had made them. Crowe examined the witness.

"I am not sorry for you. It is only justice. You divorced me and be-smirched my name."

DAVIS LEARNS OF NOMINATION AND BEGINS CAMPAIGN FOR PRESIDENCY

Democratic Candidate Cheered In Acceptance Address Given in Heavy Rain—Attacks Administration In Address.

Clarksburg, W. Va., Aug. 12.—The John W. Davis drive for the presidency was in full swing today with a vivid trail of campaign issues blazed for the guidance of democracy's hosts. Out of the West Virginian hill that cradled him, Davis laid down at his formal notification a clear-cut platform on which he cast his hopes for November. It was featured by a scathing denunciation of Republican official corruption and it won the enthusiastic endorsement of his followers although the ceremonies were marred by a driving rainstorm.

Playing the Republicans for a "three-mile" foreign policy, Davis proposed American adherence to the world court, endorsed the league of nations but postponed a decision on entry until the American people signified their readiness. He said such an expression would not be long in arriving.

For the farmers and the laboring classes he proposed specific programs of legislation and federal administration. To the average American he offered pledges of strictest government economy and a slashing of taxes with honest reinforcement of all laws. But the dominating issue was his attack on Republican dishonesty.

The nominee rested this morning from his arduous task. He planned to leave his old home town late this afternoon on the return trip to New York City. In the meantime, he gathered his lieutenants into council to expand plans for the campaign and his impending "swing around the circuit." He was literally overwhelmed with appeals for speeches and appearances. The notification itself was a tremendous physical victory for Davis.

The rainstorm sweeping over the Blue Ridge, drenched his audience, gusts of driven spray swirled against him, drowning out his voice, curtains of fog dropped between him and his followers. Yet thousands stayed to the end, shouting encouragement when Davis could no longer see them.

Despite the elements he whipped his audience into enthusiastic approval. It was a remarkable tribute to his personal popularity.

The attack upon dishonesty in the Republican administration undoubtedly will be Davis' biggest campaign weapon. He flatly declared he would ask the voters throughout the land to pass judgment of condemnation as a warning to all men who may aspire to public office, that dishonesty either in thought, word or deed, will not be tolerated in America."

"I cannot doubt what that verdict will be," he added.

There was much comment here today over the criticism Davis leveled at President Coolidge when he complained the fact that the executive did not "fit" in the senate scandals.

"What shall we say when a statement comes from one who of all men should have been most deeply stirred. The wonder is not that so many have fallen but that so few have been shown untrue," he asked.

"Shell shock was late indeed in arriving, if it is to be put forward now as the excuse for these gross misdeeds."

The nominee also made a distinct hit with a direct discussion of his New York law practice.

"The upright lawyer sells his services but never his soul," was his challenge to critics of his legal practice. "I have not clients today but the Democratic party, and if they will it so, the people of the United States."

While congratulations poured into his headquarters here the candidate was faced with the task of healing a new breach among his followers. It was created by a clash between members of the Democratic national committee over the selection of vice chairman.

The Smith-Brennan-Moore anti klan forces neatly pushed J. Bruce Kremer, of Montana, a McAdoo floor manager, at New York, out of his vice chairman job and eased Frank L. Hagus of Jersey City, Smith leader, into the seat.

The McAdoo following showed deep resentment, charging that Kremer had been discriminated against.

The exchange was accepted after a bitter fight at the committee's first session. It wound up with the committee almost overturning the first ruling of Clem L. Shaver, newly elected national chairman.

The vote was 27 to 26 to uphold Shaver, who decided that only three vice chairmen could be elected.

This decision cost Kremer his seat, but Shaver was in no wise to blame.

The McAdoo people were beaten in the parliamentary maneuvers by which the Smith people forced the election of Hague, Mrs. Emily Newell Blair and Samuel Amidon, of Kansas, before Kremer's nomination was considered.

Friends of the nominee belittled the Smith's differences, declaring that all wounds would be healed by appointing Kremer as western campaign manager. This solution was proposed first by George E. Brennan, the Illinois czar, but it received a cold reception by the McAdoo-Kremer committee members.

CLARKE FILES MOTION

Columbus, O., Aug. 12.—Attorney General Crabb had on file in common Pleas Court here today a motion asking that those persons who are seeking to retrain the state from purchasing a brick plant at Roseville, be ordered to give more specific evidence that the plant is not worth $35,000, as they charged, or withdrew their objections.

Interest in the regular meeting of the Xenia Kiwanis Club, has been heightened for the members by the announcement of a picnic supper at the cottage of Charles Adair, on the Little Miami River, next Tuesday night. Business of the club will be cut to the minimum and a thorough outing enjoyed.

IDEAL WEATHER GREETS VOTERS AT PRIMARY
TUESDAY; EXPECT COUNT WILL BE SLOW

Columbus, O., Aug. 12—Ideal summer weather, expected to largely reduce the rural vote because of its special fitness for farming purposes, marked the close today of the statewide primary campaign of both major parties. With polls opening at 6:30 a.m. eastern standard time, and closing twelve hours later, the count throughout the state was expected to be somewhat delayed by the multiplicity of candidates, not only for state offices, but in many cases for county offices as well.

In addition to the hot campaign for places on the state tickets of the Republican and Democratic parties, a number of present congressmen were

MOUNTAINS COMBED IN HUNT FOR GIRL

Baltimore, Aug. 12.—The mountains in the vicinity of Frostburg, Md., are being combed by posses in a search for Mary Catherine Mitchell, 4-year-old daughter of James W. Mitchell of Uniontown, believed to have been kidnapped while the Mitchell family was on a picnic in a woods near Frostburg. Following a report that the girl was seen being taken away by four men in an automobile, scores joined in the search. Another report was that two men were seen walking with the girl about two miles northwest of Frostburg. The child was said to have been dressed in expensive clothing, leading the kidnappers to believe that she came from a wealthy family. She was last seen about 1 p.m. Sunday. An hour later a party of girl campers reported seeing the child being taken toward the mountains by four men in an automobile.

WOMAN DRIVES OFF
NEGRO ASSAILANT

Norfolk, Va., Aug. 12.—Fighting desperately, Miss Edna Ryan this morning routed a negro who entered her bathroom through a window while she was taking a bath, and attempted to attack her according to a report to the police. In her struggle with the Negro, Miss Ryan sustained bruises and scratches about the body.

Sight of an elderly woman in an adjoining room frightened the negro and he fled.

DAYTON, O., Aug. 12.—The congressional investigation into the affairs of various soldiers' homes and hospitals throughout the country was started at the national military home here. Representatives Roy Fitzgerald of Ohio and A. L. Bulwinkle of North Carolina have charge of the investigation in Ohio. Both are members of a general committee appointed by the house to conduct the probe which was demanded by Congressman Fitzgerald. Individual complaints will not be heard. Committees formed from among the employees of the various departments will study their grievances and should any specific case warrant close scrutiny, the probers will then review the case. Complaints of neglect, bad food and charges of cruelty and extortion have been made by the inmates of some of the homes, it is alleged.

WORLD ORGANIZE TO PREVENT CRIME

Columbus, O., Aug. 12.—Considering crime more as a social ill than as mere physical outbreaks, a plan outlined today by Dr. E. J. Emerick, chief of the bureau of juvenile research, would result in the establishment of a statewide system bent on preventing crime.

District centers at fifteen of the largest cities would check potential criminals and detectives with the idea of destroying the crime incentive according to Dr. Emerick's plan.

Governor Donahoe is said to have given the Emerick system his approval.

BABE ABANDONED

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 12.—While a heavy storm raged outside, a young woman last night found a baby boy, apparently two weeks old, in a basket in the vestibule of St. Xavier's church, largest Catholic church in the city.

No marks or identification could be found.

NEWSPAPERS TO GIVE PRIMARY ELECTION NEWS

The Gazette and the Republican, in pursuance to custom, will make every effort to collect and disseminate primary election returns, Tuesday night.

The fact that voting is on Central Standard time and that the list of candidates is long, is expected to slow up the count and delay returns.

As fast as returns reach the board of elections, however, they will be rushed to the office of the newspapers, where they will be tallied so that running totals can be made.

At the same time the returns will be bulletined on the windows of the business office for the benefit of sidewalk crowds.

The newspapers' telegraph service will supply state-wide returns and information on the state senatorial race in the fifth-sixth district, which will also be bulletined.

A trawler filled with steam coal has been sent out by Lieutenant Cummings of the American patrol fleet, to the Danish supply ship, Gertrud Rask, which was caught in an ice floe and carried down of course while trying to break the ice at Angmagssalik and establish a base.

The planes have a capacity for slightly more than 900 miles so it can be seen the aviators will be embarking upon a daring venture of them attempting to reach Cape Farewell, 800 miles away without an intermediate place.

It is suggested that the men fly, if possible, to Juliahaab or Fredericksdal. There is no base at the latter place but one may be established. Julian

Washington, Aug. 12.—In a letter addressed to Charles R. Gardner of Fort Hamilton, N. Y., President Coolidge replied to a protest received at the white house against the candidacy of a negro in New York for a seat in congress. The president said:

"Leaving out of consideration the manifest impropriety of the president intruding himself in a local contest for nomination I am amazed to receive such a letter.

"During the war 500,000 colored men and boys were called up under the draft, not one of whom sought to evade it. They took their places wherever assigned in defense of the nation in which they are just as truly citizens as any others. The suggestion of denying any measure of their full political rights to such a great group of our population as the colored people, however it might be received in some other quarters, could not possibly be permitted by one who feels a responsibility for living up to the traditions and maintaining the principles of the Republic party.

"Our constitution guarantees equal rights to all our citizens without discrimination on account of race or color. I have taken my oath to support that constitution. It is the source of your rights and my rights. I propose to regard it and administer it as the source of the rights of all the people, whatever their belief or race. A colored man is precisely as much entitled to submit his candidacy in a party primary, as is any other citizen. The decision must be made by the constituents to whom he offers himself and by nobody else.

"You have suggested that in some fashion I should bring influence to bear to prevent the possibility of a colored man being nominated for congress. In reply I quote my great predecessor, Theodore Roosevelt: 'I cannot consent to take the position that the door of hope—the door of opportunity—is to be shut upon any man, no matter how worthy, purely on the grounds of race or color.'

BOSTON WELCOMES
G. A. R. VETERANS

Boston, Aug. 12.—Thousands of veterans of the civil war are here for their 58th annual reunion. The formal welcome was extended to the veterans at Symphony hall by Governor Cox, Mayor Curley and Commander-in-chief Benjamin A. Harrington of the Massachusetts department. The response was made by G. M. Saltzgaber of Van Wert, O., commander-in-chief of the G. A. R. It is expected that more than 6,000 veterans will attend the ceremonies here. Last year there were 100,000 names on the rolls of the G. A. R., but this year there are only about 70,000.

This probably will be the last national encampment for Boston, as it is planned to have the next few reunions in cities where encampments have never been held before.

DAVIS LEARNS OF NOMINATION AND BEGINS CAMPAIGN

Clarksburg, W. Va., Aug. 12.—John W. Davis in accepting the Democratic nomination for president, delivered an address in which he charged the Republicans with "complicacy in the face of corruption."

He defined what he held as the chief issues in the campaign before thousands of people who gathered in Goff Plaza, in this his home city.

Mr. Davis declared that the supreme need of the hour was to bring back to the people confidence in the government." His address was punctuated by a measured attack upon the record of the Republican party during the past four years. Recounting what he termed "the multiplied scandals of these melancholy years," Davis assailed the executive branch of government for "hurried efforts to suppress testimony, to discourage witnesses, to spy upon investigators and finally, by trumped up indictment, to frighten and deter" the investigators from their pursuit.

Mr. Davis charged that in the enactment of the present tariff law there was "an unblushing return to the evil days of rewarding party support and political contributions with legislative favors." Also he charged inability of the administration to function, due to disagreement between the president and the Republican majority in congress to agree upon public questions. He said that not only have executive recommendations for adherence to the world court been "kouted and ignored, but no evidence in sight that the Republican party as now constituted can frame and carry to its conclusion any definite and consistent foreign policy."

The Democratic nominee arraigned the Republican party "in its organized capacity for having shaken public confidence to its very foundations." He charged it with indifference to the world peace and timidity in the conduct of foreign affairs. He said the Democratic party was prepared to offer in exchange a program based on Democratic principles and guaranteed by a record of Democratic performances.

Davis' Pledges

Mr. Davis expressed in general terms his approval of the proposals in the Democratic platform and pledged himself to the following:

Enforcement of all laws, including the prohibition amendment and statutes enacted under it; agricultural aid through revision of the tariff government assistance in extending the co-operative marketing principle and by other means; reduction in taxation and revision of the tariff, an honest, impartial and just government; opposition to any challenge of the constitutional guarantees of religious freedom; economy in government, but not of the kind that deprives government employees of pay equal to that they would receive from private employers for similar work, and approval of the world court.

Mr. Davis declared he also stood for prevention of child labor and suppression of the illicit traffic in soul destroying drugs, for conservation of all of the natural resources of the country, and in opposition to the impairment, "either by injunction or by any other device" of the rights of labor to organize and to bargain collectively for "an adequate wage earned under healthful conditions."

The speaker said he pledged "grateful care" to the "veterans of the wars, especially to those who were stricken and wounded in the country's service and whose confidence has been so cruelly and corruptly abused."

World Court and League

Concerning the world league Mr. Davis said he favored co-operation officially with all legitimate endeavors, whether from the League of Nations or from any other source, to lessen the prospect of war; to aid in repairing the ravages of past wars; to promote disarmament and to advance the well being of mankind. He would maintain the means of adequate national defense "until reason is permitted to take the place of force."

On the subject of religious freedom Mr. Davis said he wished to "denounce bigotry, intolerance and race prejudice as alien to the spirit of America," and promised that when elected he would "set up no standard of religious faith or racial origin" as a qualification for any of the thousands of offices he would be called upon to fill. He did not mention the name of any organization.

Concerning agricultural conditions Davis declared the Democrats proposed to see to it that the discriminations which the tariff makes against the farmer shall be removed; that this government by doing its share toward a European settlement shall help to revive and enlarge his foreign markets; that the forces of government shall be put actively to work to lend assistance to endeavor for extending the principle of co-operative marketing; that when widespread distress has overtaken him, every power which the government enjoys under the Constitution shall be exerted in his aid. "He is entitled, too, to demand an adequate service of transportation at reasonable rates" the candidate said. "In spite of the failures and shortcomings of existing laws, this is an ideal which I can not believe to be beyond the reach of attainment."

Mr. Davis promised if he became president America would sit as "an equal among equals whenever she sits at all international gatherings. He added he could not reconcile it with his ideas of the dignity of a great nation to be represented at such gatherings only "under the poor pretense of 'unofficial observers.'" We do not and cannot accept dictum unauthorized by any expression of popular will that the League of Nations is a closed incident so far as we are concerned.

UNITED STATES BANK DEPOSITS GAINED $1,951,000,000 IN YEAR

Deposits held by the 29,465 national and State banks and trust companies and savings funds of the United States March 31 totaled $46,001,000,000, an increase in one year of $1,951,000,000, establishing a new high record, according to a report compiled by R. N. Sims' secretary-treasurer of the National Association of Supervisors of State Banks.

The compilation, disclosing a healthy condition in the banking field of the United States, also shows a gratifying increase in the capital and total resources of all banks for the year.

In presenting his report to the association, Mr. Sims said: "Both classes of banks perform equally useful and necessary functions and I do not make comparisons for the purpose of disparagement, but to emphasize the colossal size of the two great banking systems and to direct attention to the importance and need of both in the development and handling of our country's business."

MAYBE AFTER WE ARE GONE

Ralph Modjeski, builder of the Delaware Bridge, gives it as his opinion that eventually the lock canal at Panama will have to be replaced by one at sea-level. In the meantime, however, the waterway is an income-producer that with every monthly record confutes the pessimistic predictions that abounded when the "marriage of the seas and the divorce of the continents" occurred. At that time some of the chief engineers themselves did not hesitate to express their skepticism. Like the Suez Canal, the "big ditch" at the isthmus is one of the most lucrative public utilities of the world.—Public Ledger.

EVERY MOTORIST INTERESTED

"Fining Squires" and "fine mills," the bête noir of motorists good and bad, are likely to go the way of all forgotten things if there shall be a few more rulings like that given this week by Judge Smith, in the Common Pleas Court, Philadelphia, Penn. The issue in this case turned upon the right of a motorist summoned in another county to enter bail in Philadelphia for his appearance in a court of record where his offense was supposed to have been committed. In sustaining this right the Court struck a body blow at the tyrannous custom of some country justices of refusing to persons brought before them either the right to waive a hearing and enter security for appearance at court, or to appeal directly from the justice's court to a higher and more responsible tribunal. This is an arbitrary abuse of power that has long called for correction. While some of the more notorious of the "fining squires" are talking noisily of ignoring Judge Smith's ruling, they are likely to find that their own power is strictly limited. A few resolute refusals on the part of automobile drivers who feel themselves unjustly handled to submit to summary judgment and fines will soon settle the question finally.

WHO'S HELPED BY THE SUGAR TARIFF?

A lowering of the sugar tariff will at least demonstrate the lack of relationship between the tariff and retail sugar prices. The highest sugar price we have had in years was under the Underwood tariff law. Sugar prices soared for a while under the present tariff law, and loud was the outcry to the effect that it was caused by the slightly higher tariff imposed. With no change in the tariff the price of sugar dropped and the clamor along with it. Senator LaFollette who insists that the sugar tariff caused high sugar prices, on the ground that the sugar market is monopolized, couple this claim with the statement that 75 per cent of the sugar output in Cuba, where most of our competitive sugar comes from, is in the hands of the American sugar monopoly. If that be true, how will the reduction in the tariff now being paid by these monopolists cause them to lower the price of sugar in the market they control? Conceivably it will enable them to force down the price of home grown raw sugar, and therefore the profits of the American producer in the cane fields and sugar beet fields, but where does the consumer come in? Experience has shown that with the decrease in the tariff on raw sugar the price of Cuban raw sugar is raised proportionately. The so-called "sugar trust" will doubtless view with equanimity a proposal to hoist the price of its Cuban output, but the American consumer, who will get no advantage from the change, will only experience the same old price, while the market for sugar beets and sugar cane will be depreciated.—National Republican.

THE SUN

I sometimes wonder what the morning sun looks forward to as daily it returns, As some home-comer in whose breast there burns

The hope to see what friends he loves have done,

What change has been completed or begun;

I fancy, too, that great orb often years

To find some proof that we with our concerns

Have tried to make the world a kindlier one.

It sees us daily bent on petty strife, Sees our great buildings reared for sordid gain,

With now and then some hint of gentler life,

Some small improvement started to remain.

I think the sun exults as on it rolls The day it finds us caring for our souls.

Instead of boiling or steaming just break open, take out seeds, and put the squash halves into your oven to bake from one to one and one-half hours. When done peel off the top and scrape from shell. THE KIND THING

A friend of mine in talking of the late Frank Bacon remarked that "he was always trying to do the kind thing."

I know this to be true for he was my friend, too; and I never knew anyone more kind or considerate, more gentle, or who thought of others so much and often.

It seems to me that what this world needs more than anything else is for everyone to try and do the kind thing.

Surely nothing so inspires one as this.

There's so much coldness, so much grasping, so much selfish consideration, that if people would only just stop and think it all over and then open their hearts wide and try to do and act the kind thing, what a difference it would make!

People used to follow Frank Bacon around on the street—just because they loved him and wanted to get close to him.

What a beautiful world we have

GIRLS! WHITEN SKIN WITH LEMON JUICE

The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orange White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents.

Shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quarter-pint of the most wonderful skin whitener, softener and beautifier.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms and hands. It can not irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear, youthful skin and rosy-white complexion; also as a freckle, sunburn, and tan bleach. You must mix this remarkable lotion yourself. It can not be bought ready to use because it acts best immediately after it is prepared.

Then use Moone's Emerald Oil

In thousands of cases it has reduced the veins to normal and given blessed relief.

Health Hints
by the Father of Physical Culture

The old superstition that divine revelation will enable a mother to care for her baby with unerring wisdom has long since been passed into the discard. It is now well known that to trust to a mother's love and instinct, unless they are supplemented by knowledge, is to lean on a broken reed.

Even before the arrival of the child the mother-to-be should bring all her God-given powers to bear on the task of learning how she may assist Nature in perfecting the unborn, instead of going on blindly in the belief that Providence will help those who refuse to help themselves.

Oliver Wendell Holmes tells us that the education and training of a child should properly commence with its grandparents, if a child is to have the inheritance it has a right to demand of its progenitors.

Be this as it may, of one thing we are certain, and that is that since this little bundle of responsibility has arrived, we must shoulder the burden with a fervor that will enable us to meet each phase of the situation as it presents itself with courage and joy.

At first the baby's physical needs and development demand all our care and attention, for the intellectual facilities are as yet inactive. Our aim in the beginning must be to assist Nature in building aright the body which is the temple of the budding soul.

The first essentials of life being air and warmth, let us give these due consideration.

The baby's first demand upon the new world into which it has entered is oxygen. It can wait a while for its bath and still longer for food, but it must have air at once. The baby's first requirement, then, is a well ventilated, warm apartment.

Our babies are permitted to breathe a pure atmosphere from birth, by day as well as by night, and are given sun baths, they will grow and expand with all the strength and beauty of the things of the outdoor world, even though much of the time is spent indoors.

The needs of the infant are comparatively simple, when they are properly understood. All that is required is that you use good, common sense, eliminate non-essentials, and concentrate on the es-niversary sermon on Sunday. Rev. Gray and his brother Rev. W. R. Gray of Summerfield, Kansas, are both sons of this congregation, to enter a successive ministry.

INDICATIONS OF HEAVY PRIMARY VOTING TUESDAY

All indications seem to point to a heavy primary vote Tuesday according to officials of the election board. Weather conditions appeared ideal for a heavy vote as forecasters have given a promise of fair and warmer weather for Tuesday.

Farmers especially should flock to the polls as rain Monday night will probably interfere materially with work in the fields.

Candidates for the various offices closed their campaigns Monday afternoon and are now awaiting the result of the primary with expectancy, with the usual predictions of success given out from their headquarters.

Precinct workers obtained their election supplies Monday and were as a whole enthusiastic in their predictions of a successful primary vote. Members of the two principle parties were also optimistic over the chances of their particular candidates.

Several close races are expected on both tickets particularly the Republican county commissioner's race which appeared to hold the stage in public interest as the zero hour for voting arrived.

The fourteen election booths will be kept open until 5:30 o'clock central time. Tuesday insuring citizens twelve hours during which to cast their ballots.

Length of the ballots it is believed will make the final precinct count a trifle late. Reports from but a few precincts will be available by 9 o'clock in the evening it is thought and it will probably be after 10 o'clock before the general trend of the vote can be ascertained.

LOVE - OR FAME?

By
VIOLET DARE

AUTHOR OF "THE HALFTIME WIFE"

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED.

DOROTHY LANE goes to New York to visit a friend and try to break into the movies. She soon gets started, and through the friendship of

LAWRENCE FRENCH, a young publicity man, gets an engagement with

JOHN SEWARD, "the great lover of the screen," who falls in love with her and asks her to marry him. However, she cares more for French, but is not sure that he cares for her. She has an unfortunate experience with

EIKHORN, one of the big producers, and decides to go back home and give up her career, when French gets her a part in a picture being made in the country by

CARL BANNING. French follows her to the country and proposes to her. Banning persuades them not to be married at once, and French goes back to New York. The star of the production.

CRYSTAL MAY, does all that she can to make things unpleasant for Dorothy. Crystal refuses to do a dangerous leap, and Banning gives that scene to Dorothy. Dorothy realizes that it will mean a great deal to her career if she does it, and goes through with it, though she is much frightened. Later she learns that Crystal has insisted on having that scene cut out. Dorothy receives word from Lawrence that he is leaving for California as publicity man for a famous actress. She is disconsolate.

AS the door closed behind Janet I threw myself down on the bed and clenched my hands to keep from screaming. Of course, I was tired from having worked very hard and from the struggle not to let Crystal's disagreeableness get the better of me and the disappointment over not being able to go with Larry had been very keen. Yet I needn't have given way so completely as I did. But somehow I couldn't help thinking of how many divorces there were among motion-picture people. It seemed as if I couldn't think of a woman star who hadn't been married who hadn't been divorced, too. And a lot of those who were still married were sort of semi-detached from their husbands. Nobody thought anything of it ap-was perfectly miserable, and almost gloriied in being sorry for myself. The trip back to New York was a most uncomfortable one. I had to go to Ithaca, and then on to another town, where I changed trains. It was like a nightmare. I couldn't help thinking of the time when I came back to New York from Cape Cod, after John Seward proposed to me. Then I'd been in a hurry to get back and see Larry. I'd expected to be happy. Now I was going back with no illusions at all.

"Well, I can't be any more unhappy than I am at this moment," I told myself as the train pulled into the Grand Central Station. "Not a soul to meet me, nobody in town who cares whether I am here or not, no job, no place to stay perhaps, if there isn't room for me at the club. And I've had every chance to get in pictures, and what good has it done me?"

And then I forgot all my silly unhappiness, dropped my bag, and ran for the train gate. For there stood Larry, waiting for me.

Health Hints
by the Father of Physical Culture

Naturally enough, the earlier in life the abnormal position of sitting is adopted and the more continually it is practiced, the more serious the later results must be. It is all wrong for mothers or others to hold babies on their laps in a sitting position. A baby should always be held face down.

Another serious menace to the lives of babies is overclothing. Mothers or attendants fearfully overclothe them, with fold after fold of flannel, and wraps over wraps, until the skin, infinitely porous and a true respiratory organ, thus bandaged tightly, ceases to breathe and baby smothers. The capillary blood-vessels are unable to excrete carbonic-acid gas or to absorb oxygen.

During the first ten or twelve years, children should go barefooted indoors, and as much as possible outdoors, particularly during the warm months. Indoors they should go naked as much as possible, and outdoors as scantily clad as possible.

There is a great deal of general misconception as to just what constitutes physical culture exercise.

As I conceive it, physical culture exercise, whether for infants or adults, consists not of haphazard motions of the limbs and body, but of movements each of which is for the purpose of strengthening a specific muscle or group of muscles.

In the case of babies the system is modified to meet the special needs of their gelatinous muscles, soft bones and relatively weak ligaments, so that the most timid of parents can use it without fear of its harming their little ones.

Thanks to Nature, the desire for activity in a child is too strong to be curbed. By kicking and squirming, and swinging his arms, he gradually gains enough strength to crawl.

After indulging in the delight of this new-found freedom for a while, and after repeated experiments in the art of balancing, sufficient strength and skill are acquired to walk.

Every child practices physical culture, and in the proportion that children are encouraged in their natural desire for exercise, so will they improve in health.

FORMER BELLBROOK CITIZEN PRESIDES OVER DUSTY BUT VALUABLE BOOKS AT STATE HOUSE

Surrounded by dusty books and catalogs that line the walls of a little room on the very last floor of the state house, Columbus, sits a keen-eyed, gray-haired gentleman.

This man is James R. Hale, a native of Greene County and a brother of City Manager S. O. Hale of this city, and is well known here through frequent visits to his boyhood home at Bellbrook.

The records on the shelves about him represent the link connecting the present with the past. He has in his custody, the file of Congressional Records that covers the time from 1789 when Congress had its first meeting, down to the present day, when that body assembled in July, 1924. Also the file of "Hansards Parliamentary Debates," which extend from the

MONEY AT WORK

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments

You have started—but do you know where you are going?

The engineer who puts his hand to the throttle to start the train knows exactly where he is going and how long it will take him to get there. There may be emergencies causing delays, but he knows exactly what to do in such cases and has plans for making up lost time.

Have you an equally definite plan for your financial career?

Analyze your abilities and your business opportunities to answer these questions:

1. Have you a reasonable chance to go on in your present place.

2. Would it be better to go into business for your self?

3. Have you built up an invested reserve that you can use if an opportunity to go into business should be discovered?

4. Are you regularly investing a portion of your year's earnings in some conservative investment entirely apart from your routine work?

This last question is most important for it assures you maximum protection in case of a business slump.

QUOIT TEAM MATCHES ARE TO BE HELD

The Xenia Quoit team will hold its regular weekly quoit contests Thursday evening at the club grounds.

If the club is sufficiently represented at the matches Thursday evening, it is likely that they will be replaced by an individual tournament to determine the club champion.

Captain Ary has requested that every quoit pitching aspirant be present Thursday night in order to help make the tournament a success.

Captain Bagford, of the Riverdale quoit team, Dayton, has asked the locals to arrange an inter-club match game with the team he represents in the near future at the Riverdale grounds. This trip will be discussed Thursday night and a possible date set for the match.

Riverdale visited the local grounds twice during the past month and was tied in one match and defeated in the other.

FAIRFIELD FLYERS SERIOUSLY HURT IN ACCIDENT TUESDAY

MODISH MITZI—Polly's Dreams Come True

By Jay V. Jay

Polly is dreaming on where the story left off. In France, in the eighteenth century, her hero mortally wounded or almost mortally wounded in a duel appears to wear his hat in the usual heroic pose. Soon he will notice Polly in her simple diretoire gown.

The gentleman with the high crown hat is neither a gentleman nor a hero. It's Eleanor. "Eleanor, is that a new hat?" asks Polly just to hear the sound of her own voice and make sure she is awake. "It is," replies Eleanor. "And the smartest in any shop in town," she adds convincingly.

"Polly dear, you must dress for dinner or you will be late," says Aunt Sophia to the bewildered and not very wide awake Polly. "How do you like my new hat? It's one of those shapes taken from the sort of thing they used to wear in that story you have been reading."

And then Mitzi comes in with the very hat that Polly's hero had been wearing not ten minutes before. This off-the-face hat has the three corner effect and a tricolor imitated by a fashionable rosette. Well, if history has to repeat itself it might just as well repeat these picturesque

The Covered Wagon And The Uncovered Opportunity

The "Covered Wagon" days are gone forever—and the "Covered Wagon" ways of uncovering opportunity have slipped into discard.

The Open Express has been replaced by the Fast Mail—whose laurels are now being stolen by the airplane.

In this airplane age the "Covered Wagon" method of seeking new fields of opportunity has become unthinkable. Today's opportunity is uncovered instantly by some such agent as the telephone, the telegraph, the radio—or the Gazette-Republican A-C Classified Section.

The A-C Classified Section stands in the very front ranks of modern devices for the instantaneous uncovering of opportunity. It assembles the city's best and most profitable offers—and for speed in finding the mit classified them numerically and indexes them alphabetically.

Read this section regularly and keep in touch with the opportunities which are continually stepping forward!
